"Maud" Crum got reckless and used all of fourteen men in the Ursinus game. Just think! He actually had fourteen men to use. Wherefore we will not print a list of substitutions this week.

"Babe" Clapper made himself the Red Grange of George Washington with a ninety-five yard run from kick-off for a touchdown. Must have been a pretty exhibition of broken-field running. The game received the same attention from local newspapers our contests usually receive. It was late in the evening before news of the game could be obtained from down-town newspaper offices.

However, a dispatch from State College, Pa., was printed, with the heading, "Penn State Fearing G. W. Game Saturday." "Coming between the Lafayette and New York University games," says the story, "George Washington may have been considered a soft spot in the schedule before the present season got under way, but with the record of the Capital City eleven to date, it is unlikely that the Nittany gridders will be given any rest during the next six days."

Well, little boys and girls, ALL that we have to do is to beat Penn State. That being done, we will possibly be able to beat C. U.

"If it isn't my old friend, Dick Rollo," said Jack Lockwill.

"Hello, yourself, and see how you like it, Jack," was our witty retort.

"And did you go to the Bohemian party at the Sig Alpha house?"

"No, but the girl friend did, and there's no use even talking to her since. She's absolutely convinced that she is the most popular girl on the campus."

And now that's over. Other fraternities having Halloween parties: Theta Delta Chi, Theta Upsilon Omega, Sigma Phi Epsilon, Delta Tau Delta (probably only a partial list). We are convinced that the average co-ed lives from party to party. Hardly are the rush parties over than Halloween is here, and then Thanksgiving comes only too soon.

Virginia Hopkins Russell announces that girls taking dancing at the Gym should bring "natural" dancing costumes. What price admission?

Announcement is made that the British debaters who will meet George Washington here this year are versatile souls. One has played football and won numerous swimming meets; another was kidnapped during a political campaign. The question is, can they debate? And very likely they can, since the Oxford and Cambridge Unions, et al, train finished and graceful speakers probably better than any undergraduate bodies in the world.

We just can't stop talking football. One of the local sports writers has made the discovery that the Colonials are among the few unbeaten teams of the East, and that with nineteen quarters in which no score was made against them.

Our motto for this week: Beg a Ride, Steal a Ford, Jump a Freight, Ride the Blinds, or Start and Walk, but get up to the Penn State game.

The S. A. E's made considerable noise with the Buff and Blue Friday night, but the T. U. O's at their dance Saturday stamped and howled when the orchestra leader announced the score of the Ursinus game. The sedate Anchorage across the street and the fountain in Dupont Circle shook wildly.

Interfraternity basketball is being played off now, with the usual attendant fuss and feathers, howls and excitement. The biggest howl this year has been over the strictness of the referee, a worthy lad, but he just will call 'em close. As a result, it is said that a couple of games have been won by foul shots.

We just got through hollering for all studies to get up to Penn State Saturday, and we have just heard that someone is promoting a parlor car bus trip to State College. Make it a special train, boys, make it a special train.

Big change in personnel of the Hatchet! New board members to replace such persons as Joe Walstrom, recently resigned, Dorothy Dougherty, who didn't return, etc. The King is dead—long live the King! Incidentally, this is indeed a time to offer these people condolence. Little do they realize, etc., etc., the long Friday, Sunday, Monday nights which they will pass sweating over freshman copy. Bring on the smelling salts!

How can we write Chips with such a noise going on? Soup Starr is busy pasting pieces of paper together, someone is dragging a chair over the floor, and one of the fair board members howls that she is merely using "Chinese cheap labor" and given nothing to do that requires brains, to which some of the other sarcastic ones assent only too readily.

CLASSES CHOOSE OFFICERS NOV. 3 IN NEW ELECTION

Voters Will Not Be Confined to Formally Nominated Candidates

TO USE SECRET BALLOT; DR. WEST IN CHARGE

Selected Committee to Take Charge at Polls; Attendance of Faction Representatives Urged

Elections for the purpose of choosing officers for all classes will be held in the Gymnasium on Thursday, November 3, between the hours of 10:30 to 1:00, and 5:30 to 7:30.

Nominations closed at noon, Friday, October 28, with the following students nominated: For president of the senior class in the School of Engineering, George W. B. Campbell and E. Farrar Goldberger; for president of the junior class in the School of Education, Nana Sullivan. The five Columbian College freshmen who have been nominated are: Theodore Chapin and Thomas Fitch, for president; Caroline Jackson, for vice-president; Russell Coombes, for secretary; and Frank Linton, for treasurer. A freshman sergeant-at-arms will also be elected.

It was also announced today that elections will be held to fill vacancies in the offices of junior class president in the Columbian College; sophomore class treasurer in Columbian College; junior class president, vice-president, and secretary in the School of Engineering; and sophomore class sergeant-at-arms in the School of Engineering.

Freshmen and Sophomores in the School of Education will vote with the Columbian College freshman and sophomores.

Blanks Provided

Dr. W. R. West, of the Political Science Department, who is in charge of the elections, announced today that because of incomplete nominations a blank space will be provided under each office to be filled in order that a voter may write the name of any eligible student he may wish to vote for to fill that office. Dr. West also stated that representatives of the various class factions are urged to be present to watch the election from a place which will be provided for them.

Under a new system devised this year by the committee in charge of elections a student whose class standing is in doubt may vote and cast his ballot in a sealed envelope bearing his name so that his status may be investigated and his vote counted or rejected as the case may be.

Y. W. C. A. MAKES PLANS FOR BIG COUNTY FAIR

Louise Du Bose is Chairman in Charge of Event; Sororities Choose Their Booths

Plans for the annual County Fair, sponsored by the Y. W. C. A. of the University, are well under way under the direction of Louise Du Bose. She assures us that the evening of November 11 will be a peppy one.

Each sorority is in charge of a booth, and those which have selected their booths are as follows: Beta Phi, punch; Alpha Delta Pi, ice cream; Gamma Beta Pi, checking service for coats; Delta Zeta, candy; Phi Delta, balloons. Any sororities which have not notified Louise Du Bose as to their choice of booths will please get in touch with her in the Pi Phi rooms.

The general committee of the County Fair, of which Louise is chairman, consists of Mary K. Lutz, decorations; Verna Parsons, fraternity banners; Barbara Miller, booths; Virginia Blackstone, dancing, which will be five cents for a stag and ten cents per couple. Lillian Beach and Emma Gregg are sending invitations to the faculty, and Dorothy Ruth is in charge of publicity for the fair.

General admission to the County Fair will be ten cents per person. All the things that are to be found at a real County Fair will be there, including eats, fun, and displays.

INTERFRAT COMMITTEE PLANS RUSHING RULES

The Interfraternity Council met Sunday morning, October 30, 1927, at the Theta Delta Chi House, 1324 Eye Street, to appoint a committee for the consideration of rush rules for the coming year and to decide on a date for the Interfraternity smoker.

The eight members of the Interfraternity Council present at the meeting, appointed a committee, consisting of Alben E. Olson, Verne MacDonald, and Frank W. Smith, which will endeavor to draw up a plan of simplified rushing rules to go into effect next year.

The tentative date December 1st was set for the annual smoker. A tea-dance will, probably, be held on the same date.

"R. A. S." Denounces "Buff and Blue" in Review of College "Pigskin Lyrics"

"R. A. S." a musical critic of the "New Yorker," a magazine published in Gotham under the date of October 15, takes a nasty crack at Alma Mater songs in general and quotes as an example of what he calls "mutton," a portion of "Hail to the Buff and Blue."

This sterling advocate of the adoption of Shakespeare and Milton, or perhaps Wordsworth as a model for what he contemptuously calls "Pigskin lyrics," characterizes the Colonial grid song in an insane fashion as, "Dropping the little d, if not the big one, in George Washington University."

No attempt is made to explain the meaning of "little d," but a facetious reporter has suggested that "little d" might mean "little dumb," and apply to the critic. One thing in favor of the critic is the fact that he urges the readers to "get the book" of Alma Mater songs which he criticizes.

Other universities whose loyalty songs are objected to on various grounds include such as Amherst, University of Alabama, Bowdoin, University of Illinois, University of Pittsburgh, Princeton, and Syracuse.

RECEPTION HELD FOR PRESIDENT

Alumni of University and Columbian Women Entertain Dr. and Mrs. Marvin

OVER 1000 PEOPLE PRESENT

School Songs by Glee Club; Addresses and Dancing Features of Evening

Alumni of the University and the Columbian Women tendered a reception to Dr. and Mrs. Cloyd Heck Marvin, Saturday night at the Mayflower Hotel. In the receiving line, in addition to Dr. and Mrs. Marvin, were Mr. and Mrs. John Bell Larner, Dr. and Mrs. Frank A. Hornaday, Dr. and Mrs. Harvey W. Wiley, and Dean and Mrs. Howard Lincoln Hodgkins.

Mrs. Joshua Evans, Jr., and Stephen E. Kramer headed the committee on arrangements.

Over a thousand people attended the reception, and in addition to members of the faculty, the Columbian Women, and the Alumni Association, other prominent people present included Engineer Commissioner and Mrs. Ladue, Commissioner and Mrs. Dougherty, Frank W. Ballou, superintendent of schools, Chief Justice Walter I. McCoy, Dr. John J. Tigert, commissioner of education, and Mrs. Tigert, Judge Mary O'Toole, and Dr. and Mrs. Vaughn.

Irene M. Pistorio was chairman of the hospitality committee, and had assisting her Dean Anna L. Rose, Mrs. Henry Grattan Doyle, Mrs. William C. Van Vleet, Mrs. William Allen Wilbur, Mrs. John R. Lapham, Mrs. William Carl Ruediger, and other prominent Washingtonians.

Harold E. Warner was chairman of the floor committee and had assisting him a group of representative graduates.

The program started with a group of school songs, sung by the Glee Club, under the direction of Robert Harmon.

Professor Elmer Louis Kayser, secretary of the University, made the introductions, and addresses were given by Dr. Hornaday, the President of the Alumni Association, Mrs. Harvey W. Wiley, President of the Columbian Women, and Dr. Marvin.

The addresses were followed by dancing.

PRESIDENT MARVIN IS GRATIFIED BY RECEPTION

In a statement issued yesterday to The Hatchet, Dr. C. H. Marvin expressed his pleasure at the reception tendered by the Columbian Women and the General Alumni Association last Saturday evening. The President's statement follows:

"The reception was fine. To greet under the most pleasant auspices the many members of our company was a great privilege. Then, too, to have our alumni organizations and our Columbian Women enthusiastically join in the project as they did is symbolic of the great spirit of unity in the University. Mrs. Marvin and I appreciated the opportunity to know the members of the organizations representing George Washington University. I think we all were inspired and blessed by our coming together."

DEBATE TRYOUTS

Tryouts for the men's Varsity debate squad will be held November 8, at 8 o'clock, in Stockton Hall. Candidates should be prepared to give a five minute speech on any subject.

PROMINENT MEN COMPOSE BRITISH DEBATING TEAM

Political and Educational Leaders of English Universities Meet G. W. Varsity

PACIFISM SUBJECT OF TILT ON NOVEMBER 18

Student Activities Cards Will Admit G. W. Varsity; General Admission to Gym Seventy-five Cents

Men who are notable not only in their school activities, but also in the educational and political world compose the British squad which will meet the G. W. Varsity team on the night of November 18 in the Gymnasium, to debate the question: Resolved, "That the most effective attitude toward war is an uncompromising pacifism."

Frank Ongley Darvall, of the University of Reading, Reading, England, is president of the Students' Union, editor of the college magazine, secretary of the debating society, vice-president of the National Union of Students, and representative at the International Conferences of the Students' Unions.

Besides carrying these executive responsibilities, Darvall has engaged in football, and won numerous swimming meets. Outside of his school activities he is a rising political figure, and was elected a delegate to the National Liberal convention in 1925.

Haddon is Versatile

The second man of the Empire team, Andrew Haddon of Edinburgh University, is the direct descendant of J. B. Selkirk, one of Scotland's greatest minor poets, and was reared on the Bordersland of Scotland, that romantic country which has produced more famous men per capita of its population than any other part of Great Britain. Haddon has served as secretary, vice-president, and president of the Edinburgh University Unionist Association, and represented his school at the International Student Service conference in Yugoslavia. In the same year, 1926, he represented the C. I. E. Council at Prague.

In politics he took an active part in the election of Sir John Gilmour to the office of Lord Rector, and was captured by the Liberals during the campaign. His opinions tend toward nationalism, and he believes that world civilization is best served by each nation continuing to make its characteristic contribution to the culture of the whole.

SCHOOL OF PHARMACY RECEIVES $10,000 GIFT

Donation by Malcolm C. Gibbs to Establish Course in Commercial Pharmacy at G. W. U.

Ten thousand dollars to be used for the establishment and maintenance of a course in commercial pharmacy was given to the University last week by Malcolm C. Gibbs, prominent Washingtonian.

As a result of this gift, the School of Pharmacy will be enabled to expand the work which it now offers, and to develop the commercial angle of the profession, which has hitherto been forced to remain in the background due to a lack of funds.

Dean Bradley is said to be deeply appreciative of the donation, since it is another step forward in the school, which only recently moved to its new quarters.

Money Sought For Orphans in Armenia

Near East Relief Decries Golden Rule Sunday on Fourth of December

Golden Rule Sunday will be observed December 4.

This announcement is made by Harold F. Pellegrin, Potomac Division Director, Near East Relief, 1334 Connecticut Avenue, who appeals to everyone to aid in making the day a success. On Golden Rule Sunday it is suggested that a simple meal such as is served to the 33,000 orphans under care of the relief organization be eaten and that the difference between it and the regular Sunday dinner or as much more as possible be sent to the Near East Relief at 1334 Connecticut Avenue, for the orphans.

Many of the orphans are in the area of the great earthquake in Armenia just a year ago and Mr. Pellegrin says that the conditions there are still unsettled and such that aid is needed to prevent the earthquake sufferers from destitution and possibly death this winter.

The winters are bitterly cold in the Caucasus where the earthquake occurred and because of the great need Mr. Pellegrin asks that donations be made as liberal as possible.

C. U. Would Emulate Colonials; Tries to Steal G. W.'s Thunder

Imitation is the sincerest flattery; necessity, upon occasion, is the mother of vicarious invention.

On Sunday, October 16, George Washington University announced that the high school seniors of Washington and vicinity had been invited to be the guests of the Freshman Class of George Washington University at the G. W. Fordham game on October 22. The high school seniors responded, one thousand strong and, we trust, enjoyed George Washington's ensuing massacre of Fordham.

On Thursday, October 27, comes the announcement in a local paper that "High school students may be admitted to the Catholic University-Quantico Marines football game Saturday, October 29, at the Brookland Stadium as guests of the Cardinal eleven."

We are flattered. But, continuing, we are amazed, for the news story proceeds to digress in the following editorial fashion: "It is expected that such an allowance to high school boys would prove a great boon to college football here and there is quite a possibility that all of the local colleges will follow the Brooklanders."

Comment, it seems to us, would be quite superfluous.

THREE NAMED TO HATCHET BOARD

Alice Graham, Herbert E. Angel, Kingsland Prender Get Executive Positions

TO TAKE OFFICE AT ONCE

Appointments Lack Only Publications Council Sanction; Sub-Editorial Posts Also Filled by Board

Alice Graham, Herbert E. Angel, and Kingsland Prender were named members of the Board of Editors of the University Hatchet by the Board, pending action of the Publications Council, last week. All three have been prominent for some time in George Washington publications, and other activities.

Alice Graham was reporter on the Hatchet for two years, and this year has been News Editor. She is a varsity hockey player and belongs to the Women's G. W. Club. She is a member of Gamma Beta Pi.

Herbert E. Angel is in his second year in the University. Last year he was a reporter for the Hatchet and this year has been Copy Editor. Reside his work in George Washington, for two years he has been Editor of Strayer Topics, of Strayer's Business College, a publication which he founded. He is Feature Editor of the 1928 Cherry Tree and is a contributor to the Ghost.

Kingsland Prender, also in his second year, was reporter and Men's Sports Editor of the Hatchet last year, and, Men's Sports Editor this year, played in "Beggars on Horseback" last year. He is a pledge of Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

By virtue of the vacancies in sub-editorial positions left by the promotion of these three, Donald H. Iglehart has been named News Editor, Dorothy Albert has been appointed Copy Editor, and Pern E. Henninger is the new Men's Sports Editor. All are well qualified by previous experience.

MR. HENSEY SPEAKS TO G. W. MASONIC CLUB

Foreign Service School Endowment Campaign Discussed at First Meeting of Organization

The George Washington University Masonic Club held its first meeting of the year Thursday, October 27, at the Ivy Vine Restaurant. Mr. M. D. Hensey, president of the Washington League of Masonic Clubs, addressed the club on the progress made nationally in the Endowment Campaign. Several Master Masons were admitted to membership in the club during the session.

At the business meeting plans were discussed as to the work of the club during the year and the part to be played in the Foreign Service School Endowment Campaign. A number of entertaining events of interest to all members of the Masonic Fraternity in Washington are being arranged for the year's program.

ILLUSTRATED LECTURE TO BE GIVEN AT A. S. C. E.

Mr. H. J. Saunders, a ranking engineer of the Interstate Commerce Commission, will give an illustrated lecture on the Valuation of the Railroads of the United States by the Interstate Commerce Commission as the main feature of the meeting of the American Society of Civil Engineers, to be held November 4, room 27, Corcoran Hall.

Other features of the program will be a three-reel movie of a water power development, and several student talks.

All Civil Engineers and their friends are cordially invited to attend.

95-YARD RUN BY CLAPPER MARKS URSINUS BATTLE

Colonials Win From Bears, 7 to 0. Rolling up Five Straight Victories

STIFF URSINUS DEFENSE IS INDICATED BY SCORE

Visitors Often in Shadow of Goal But Pennsylvania Team Displayed Strength in Emergencies

Clapper's sensational 95-yard run for a touchdown from the kick-off at the beginning of the second half enabled the George Washington eleven to retain its clean slate for the season by extending its winning streak to five victories.

Ursinus was defeated by a single touchdown on the new Ursinus athletic field at Collegeville, Pa., last Saturday. The score, however, does not indicate how much the Colonials outplayed their foe, for they had the ball within striking distance of the Ursinus goal on several occasions only to lose it on fumbles or to be held on downs by a stiffening Ursinus defense.

The Colonials employed an attack consisting of straight line plays mixed with an occasional forward pass. Crum's strong and fast line found "little difficulty" in opening large holes in the Ursinus defense, and on two occasions the Buff and Blue backs carried the ball the whole length of the field only to be stopped by the Bears who displayed a surprising strength in the shadow of their own goal.

Dedicate New Stadium

For Ursinus the combination of Moyer to Jeffers and Jeffers to Moyer proved to be a great ground-gaining combination, some of Moyer's left-handed heaves being good for 25 to 35 yards. Early in the first period successive passes, Moyer to Jeffers, put the ball on the Colonials' 5-yard line, but at this point the "Iron" Colonials displayed their true defensive strength by holding the Bears, who became ferocious with a score in sight, for downs with a little more than 1 yard to go.

Clapper, Stehman, and Saunders shared special honors for the Buff and Blue, while Moyer, Jeffers, and Benner played a stellar game for the Collegeville aggregation, with Moyer taking the major portion of the glory for his team.

Ursinus fought doubly hard to win this game, their first on the new athletic field, which along with a new gymnasium, was dedicated in a speech made by President G. L. Omwake just preceding the game.

LIBRARY OF CONGRESS OFFERS COURSE TO G. W.

Part of Plan for Expansion and Development of Division of Library Science

Fourteen senior students are taking a course in library science at the Library of Congress, under the supervision of Dr. Ernest C. Richardson, general consultant in bibliography and research.

This cooperation of the Library of Congress, extended to the students of library science, is but part of a plan for the expansion and development of the Division of Library Science, which is directed by Professor Alfred F. W. Schmidt.

The plan of the University is to establish, with the cooperation of the committee on library training of the District of Columbia, a full-fledged School of Library Science, having a regular faculty, and offering a four-year curriculum leading to the A. B. degree.

School Sure to Come

With the 200 libraries of Washington, among which is the third greatest library in the world, placing their resources at the command of the students for research, these plans for the establishment of a School of Library Science will undoubtedly materialize.

The University of Chicago is developing a graduate School of Library Science, and Columbia University has both an undergraduate and graduate School of Library Science. It is Professor Schmidt's plan to have the George Washington School of Library Science fill the place in the south held by the Schools of Library Science of Columbia and Chicago in the North and West.

ELECTION NOTICE

Elections for the purpose of choosing officers for all classes will be held in the Gymnasium on Thursday, November 3, between the hours of 10:30 to 1:00, and 5:30 to 7:30.

Because of incomplete nominations a blank space will be provided under each office to be filled in so that a voter may write the name of any eligible student he may wish to vote for to fill that office.

OUR DEBATING FUTURE

Announcement of the personnel of the British team which will debate against George Washington brings to the mind of the undergraduate fond memories of the holocaust of last year, when Cambridge University defeated George Washington.

In spite of a most successful summer in the capitals of Europe, it is hard to forget the contrast shown between the suave and easy manner and language of the Britons, and the blunt, tactless delivery of the men from G. W.

This is not said merely to be critical, and is not meant in a carping spirit. Perhaps the Americans are the equals, or even the superiors of their British cousins in the matter of relentless logic. But they are too much inclined to use the bludgeon.

There must be men in the University who have the background of culture and the forensic ability sufficient to appear not too backwoods in front of the Englishmen. The Hatchet suggests one possible remedy: to persuade more people to come out for varsity debating.

Women's fraternities having made their choices and bid the usual number of freshmen, it comes to mind that a number of girls are necessarily being left out. And far from being a new situation, it is as old as fraternities and sororities.

But wise freshmen will realize that not all the achievements and opportunities for advancement are bound up in a Greek-letter pin. Secret societies are pleasant and often entail a great number of advantages, but not all of them.

There are good people, and there are prominent people, and handsome people, and lovable people, who swear allegiance neither to Alpha, Beta, Gamma, nor Delta. And, all popular opinions to the contrary, there are people who refuse, and consistently refuse, to affiliate in this manner.

THAT PENN STATE FOOTBALL GAME

Next Saturday the George Washington "Iron Men" tackle the strongest team on the hardest schedule ever assumed by a Colonial combination. So far the Crummen are undefeated after playing five of their nine games, and in so doing have attracted the sports' eye of the country. Therefore the Penn State battle furnishes not only the high light of the present football season but an opportunity for the student body to show just where it stands on athletics. All that we ask is that our plucky gridmen go to foreign fields and stop the Lions, one of the greatest teams in the gridiron world, with a meagre squad of fourteen men. What we should ask is that they do their best, win, lose, or draw.

It is easy to sit back in a comfortable chair and garrulously comment on the glory of a possible victory, but what counts is action on your part. Grab a bus, hop the train, walk, run, or even "bum" your way to that game. It is your duty. Some great teams have fallen before the Penn Staters this year. Don't lose heart if the Colonials fall too, but be assured that if they get the "breaks" they will probably upset the dope.

HALLOWE'EN, ushered in by witches and ghosts, brought with it countless parties where weird costumes, noise-makers and confetti predominated, and constraint and formality were cast to the winds.

The masquerade given by the S. P. E's on Monday, October 31, was entirely up to their usual standard. It began at 10 o'clock and it was 2.30 before the anguished neighbors heard "Home Sweet Home." The house was attractively decorated for the occasion and everyone was provided with horns, rattles and confetti.

Sigma Alpha Epsilon scored a social triumph with their Bal Boheme on Friday, October 28. The old familiar resumed—or continued—its activities in a setting of burlesque posters, dimly seen by the light of candles in old bottles. John Slaughter's music was an added attraction, and the costumes furnished much in the way of amusement.

Another masquerade which was entirely successful and thoroughly enjoyed was held by the Theta Delta Chi's on October 28.

Pi Beta Phi entertained the freshmen at a luncheon in the sorority rooms on Saturday, October 29.

The K. A.'s celebrated their first basketball victory with an informal and impromptu dance at their chapter house after the game, Wednesday, October 26.

T. U. O. held its Hallowe'en dance on Saturday, October 29.

Chi Omega entertained at tea at the Tabard Inn on Saturday, October 29. The greatest excitement of the afternoon was in getting the freshmen out before non-communication started at six o'clock.

Sigma Phi Epsilon announces the initiation of William Shaw and Arthur Davis.

Several of the S. P. E's are organizing a party to go to Penn State for the game next week-end.

The Chevy Chase Club was the scene Thursday, October 27, of a very charming luncheon given to President and Mrs. Marvin by the Board of Lady Managers of the George Washington University Hospital. About fifty guests were present.

Gamma Beta Pi entertained at the Congressional Country Club, Friday, October 28, at their annual final rush-luncheon. Mrs. Cloyd H. Marvin, and the following members of Kappa Kappa Gamma, Alice Watts Hostetler, Hannah Hunt Stokes, Jane Ramey Knox, and Mrs.

ONE YEAR AGO TODAY

Vol. 23, No. 6.....November 3, 1926

After a series of dashing basketball games, Kappa Sigma and Sigma Chi hold each other in a deadlock in the first interfraternity basketball league each with two games won. The close of the first week also witnesses the lead in the other league, of Sigma Alpha Epsilon, tearing its way to the front with a similar two games to its credit; four other fraternity teams break even.

Thirteen men are picked for debating squad after strenuous tryouts in Stockton Hall, raising the total selected to 18, as material for twenty-five debates which form the largest schedule George Washington University has ever had.

Penn State downs G. W. boys in football classic by 20-12, the Lion's snapping jaws having brief but complete hold during the second quarter. After the disastrous fifteen minutes, Colonials threaten to overcome their roaring adversaries, but are repulsed before they can tear away the necessary points.

Intensive advertising campaign starts for Ghost before its appearance Thanksgiving.

G. W. U. prepares to play host to Ursinus College football team at the Walter Camp Memorial Game, instituted in all American colleges of standing to raise $300,000 for a Walter Camp Memorial. A three-mile race will be held between halves.

University Hatchet prints literary supplement, containing book reviews, poems written by college students, stories, humor, jokes, and other interesting scraps. The cacknation family is represented, with Uncle Guffaw, Cousin Snicker, Susie Smiles, Minnie-Ha-Ha and others.

Rifle teams prepare for inter-class matches to be held in December.

Inter-class series of women's hockey starts, with Sophomore and Junior-Senior teams clashing for supremacy.

Expedition to Venezuela is prepared for general geological exploration and topographical survey of the country. The wanderers expect to travel through the dense jungles and mountainous interior on "burro-back."

The Argentine government presents to the George Washington University library a representative collection of 160 volumes of Argentine literature. These volumes form a notable addition to the Hispanic collection of the library.

Watts, president of this province, were present. The tables were decorated with fall leaves and large yellow chrysanthemums. A number of freshmen and all the members of Gamma Beta Pi attended.

Dean William Carl Ruediger was at home Saturday afternoon, October 29, 1927, to members of the faculty of Columbian College.

Verne Booth, former John Hopkins track star, and now a member of the Melrose Athletic Club of New York, was a week-end visitor at the Sigma Nu House.

Theta Upsilon Omega held their Hallowe'en informal on last Saturday night with Elmer Brown's Troubadours furnishing the inspiration. The house was decorated to resemble an autumn woods, and cider was served from a refreshment room, imitating the old fashioned cider mill.

Gamma Beta Pi entertained at a formal luncheon in the fraternity rooms, Thursday, October 27, followed by bridge.

On Saturday, October 15, Phi Chapter of Alpha Epsilon Iota, women's medical fraternity, entertained the freshmen medical women at tea, from four to six, in the Women's Building. The decorations and refreshments followed the colors of the fraternity, black, white, and green, and white carnations were distributed to the guests.

More than fifty persons attended the Hallowe'en dance given by the Tau Club of George Washington University at Thayer's Studio, last Saturday evening. Music was furnished by Bobby Ford's Capital City Sereaders.

ORCHESTRA BEGINS WORK

The George Washington Orchestra under the direction of Prof. Gropp has begun its work for the coming winter and is progressing very well. At present it is working on "Shubert's 'Military March'; the 'Anvil Chorus' of Verdi; sextets from Donizetti's 'Lucia'; the quartet from Verdi's 'Rigoletto'; and 'Roses' by Strauss. Prof. Gropp is still looking for people who can play wood-wind instruments or violins.

FRENCH CLUB MEETS

The regular meeting of Le Cercle Gailla was held in the Phi Mu rooms on Friday evening, October 28. The evening was spent in conversation, singing, and games. All students in the French classes of the University are cordially invited to attend the meetings.

POTENTIAL PROFS

No. 3a—Henry Gratton Doyle, Jr. (right); 3b—Marion Wade Doyle (center); 3c—Robert Carr Doyle (left)

The fact that their dad is a dignified Dean of Men does not impress in the slightest degree the children of Dean Henry Gratton Doyle. To them, he is just plain "dad," and he "goes to work" every morning. They entirely disregard his position as one of the officials of the University, and his departure every morning from the parental domicile in order to impart the mysteries of Romance Languages to a horde of students.

True, Henry Gratton, Jr., aged 9, and Robert Carr, aged 6 condescend to join the Dean in the Harvard football song when he "comes home from work" and round out the performance with a hearty, "Down with Yale," but in general they consider their father, as other children of those ages do, an inexhaustible source of pennies, nickels, or dimes (whichever professorial children demand).

Miss Marion Wade, aged 7, shares the views of the boys in some respects. She likes the "Ghost," and even had her picture taken with a copy of that publication in her hands. Marion proudly asserts that she is going to Radcliffe, where her mother graduated, and that all the Deans in creation would have a hard time trying to stop her.

In general, then, the Doyle children are pretty much the same as children the country over. The boys are both blondes, while Marion is a brunette. They all like to play games, they consider studying a necessary evil, and they have all skipped a grade or so in school. They are just "regular kids."

The Doyle children, however, have one unusual distinction—that of being the subjects of a book. Prof. Lula E. Wright of the Lincoln School of the Teachers' College of Columbia University is the author of a children's reader entitled "The Magic Boat," published by Ginn and Company. The characters in the reader are Henry, Marion, and Robert, and the entire text together with all pictures deal with them.

How will your office look?

Not like this, of course

Yet you will find in it a dozen jobs that can be done more quickly and effectively by electricity—and done so quietly as to be practically unnoticed. In fact, electricity has completely revolutionized many office methods.

YOUR FATHER probably will recall the days of high stools, eyeshades, and evenings overtime.

But visit a modern office! A thousand letters to go out by four o'clock. A new price list to all customers in to-night's mail, without fail. Enter electricity. Two or three people turn switches, and the finished letters come out of an ingenious machine. Another motion and they are sealed and stamped. Only electricity could get that job done.

Here's a statistical job. The reports are in; thousands of figures to analyze. Looks like overtime for fifty clerks. "Certainly not," answers electricity, as a button starts the motor-driven sorters and tabulators. Key cards are punched with lightning fingers. Electric sorters devour 24,000 cards an hour. Tabulators add quantities and amounts in jig time, and print the totals.

Go to almost any bank today. Hand in your account book. Click, click, click, goes the electric book-keeping machine and back comes the book to you. Five operations performed in that brief moment. Everybody saves time,—you, the clerk, the bank,—when electricity is the book-keeper.

In the office of to-morrow you will find "electrical fingers" doing more work than even to-day.

TO-DAY in a modern office you will find these electrical aids:
Addressing Machines; Dictating Machines; Adding Machines; Multigraphs; Check-writers; Calculating Machines; Cash Registers; Interior Telephones; Card Recorders; Card Sorters; Time Recorders; Accounting Machines; Time Stamps; Clocks; Mailing Machines; Typewriters; Fans; MAZDA Lamps, and many other electric devices.

This familiar mark appears on many electrical products, including motors that drive time- and labor-saving office machines.

Undefeated Crummen Play Lions Saturday

MITTANY GAME IS MAJOR TEST FOR G. W. COLONIALS

Crummen to Meet Powerful Penn State Eleven at State College Saturday

AXEMEN HAVE BLANKED ENEMIES FOR 19 PERIODS

Pennsylvanians Have Dropped Only One Out of Six Games in Hard Schedule

By KINGSLAND PRENDER

Encouraged by their string of five consecutive victories, the undefeated George Washington University gridmen will put up the fight of their lives when they invade the lair of the Lions of Penn State next Saturday at State College, Pa. Needless to say, a victory for the Colonials will claim them as one of the strongest teams in the East.

Not only will the Crummen be out to keep their slate clean but to get revenge for the 20-12 setback sustained by them last year. In order to do this the hard-fighting Hatchettes will have to play supreme football all the way, for the Keystoneers are strong in every department of the game.

Coach Hugo Bezdek, of the north-easterners, has developed a team which is considered by some to be the best to represent the Blue and White in the last decade.

A resume of the Lions' record so far this season may give an idea of their power. They have played six teams of major importance, rolling up 137 points while they held their opponents to thirty-eight. Of the six games only one was lost, that to Bucknell by the narrow margin of one touchdown, 13-7.

Roepke is State Star

The Penn State confidently opened their season by crushing Lebanon Valley, 27-0. On the following Saturday they subdued Gettysburg, 34-13. Then came their only defeat, at the hands of Bucknell.

The Lions rallied to overwhelm the great Pennsylvania eleven, 20-0. Then Syracuse came along to hold them to a 9-6 score. But as if to crown their efforts the Staters rose to their greatest victory in crushing their traditional rival, Lafayette, 40-6, last Saturday.

Several good reasons may be put forth to explain the excellent showing of Bezdek's men, but the best one is in the person of Captain Johnny Roepke, who holds down left half. Johnny is a speedy, hard-pushing ground coverer with ability to pass, place-kick and punt with equal dexterity. He practically defeated Lafayette single-handed when he scored

Pierce-Arrow Bus to Carry George Washington Fans To Penn State Saturday

A large Pierce-Arrow Parlor Car Bus is to be chartered to carry George Washington students to the football game at Penn State next Saturday, November 5.

The bus is to leave Saturday morning about six a. m. and will return from State College, Sunday. The fare for the round trip is $6.50 and admission to the game is free. All students, both men and women, may make the trip.

Thirty students are needed to secure the bus. Make arrangements at Gymnasium Office, not later than Thursday, November 3.

Varsity Rifle Squad Is Holding Practice

New Members To Be Picked For Varsity Squad From Class Teams

The first Varsity practice in Girls' Rifle was held, Saturday, October 29 under the supervision of Walter Stokes. Members of the class teams and the girls who played in the beginners matches, tried out for the Varsity squad.

After the new Varsity squad has been picked, practice will be held on Tuesday, Thursday, and Saturday, each week, in preparation for the coming competitive matches. Challenges have been sent out by Betty Clark, manager of the team, to several colleges. The schedule for the coming season will depend on the responses to these challenges.

A position of assistant-manager of rifle is still open. Any girl who desires this position may file her application with Miss Rose, Dean of Women.

Twenty-seven of his team's forty points. The Colonials are destined to see much of Johnny but sadly he is not their only obstacle.

Cy Lungren, clever field general, has displayed an uncanny knack at receiving forward passes. He seems to be at the right spot at just the right time. The work of Roger Mahoney at center has been outstanding on the defense. He consistently makes holes in the enemy line but he may meet his Waterloo when he bucks up against the Colonial front guard.

It is the alertness of the Penn State team which has marked it as a "great" combination. They continually break up forwards and otherwise smear the enemy offense by playing a head-up game.

May Use Overhead Game

The Lions boast of a perfect aerial attack with Roepke and Wolff heaving long and short passes to the adept and waiting Lungren. Slashes off tackle are very frequent in their offense.

But the Keystoneers will meet a team equally strong on the line and one which has developed its overhead game to a state of near perfection. Lungren will do well to outwit "Shorty" Sanders, the quick-thinking Colonial quarterback. Roepke will know he has been in a real punting duel if Ivan Stehman is "right" next Saturday.

If Captain Dave Allshouse, who is out for the season with a broken ankle, were able to play, the north-easterners would see "All-American" material in action. His absence from the line-up will undoubtedly reduce the Colonials' chance to rob, although Jimmy Carey can be depended upon to give his usual brilliant game in his leader's place at right end.

Acting Captain Homer Walker may come through as he did against Fordham. "Babe" Clapper, Henry Sapp, and "Chalky" Lopeman are all star backfielders who might get away for long runs at any time.

If Penn State is expecting a set-up in the Colonials this year they are due for a jolt.

Colonials Boast Clean Record

The charges of Crum have rolled up an enviable record this year, meeting and defeating five strong teams. The only combination to score on the Colonials was that of New York City College which rang up a touchdown in the early minutes of play in the first game of the season. Since then the Buff and Blue has held its opponents scoreless for nineteen consecutive quarters.

The C. C. N. Y. eleven fell 19-6. Then the plucky American U. ball toters were trampled on, 27-0. Rutgers was surprised by being beaten, 6-0, by the fast-flying Colonials, but the big upset was administered when Fordham was included among the Hatchettes' victims, 13-0.

Last Saturday the Ursinus machine was powerless as it fell before the heedless Colonials, 7-0.

Next Saturday, however, the Nittany Lions will furnish the greatest test of the power that seems to be that of the Crummen.

Here are the probable line-ups:

Perry	L. E.	Delp
Crombie	L. T.	Darragh
Athey	L. G.	Ricker
Walker	C.	Mahoney

INTERFRAT TILTS IN BIG START AS 4 QUINTS MEET

Sigma Nu, S. A. E., S. P. E., and K. A. Win From T. U. O., Acacia-Th. D. and Phi Sigs

GREAT RIVALRY SHOWN BY BATTLING QUINTETS

Kappa Sigma and S. A. E. Finalists Last Year, Will Meet Again Early in Series

Interfraternity basketball made its seasonal debut in the G. W. Gym at 8.30 on last Wednesday night when Sigma Phi Epsilon defeated Theta Delta Chi and Kappa Alpha beat Phi Sigma Kappa. Following up the schedule arranged by the interfraternity council, Sigma Nu won over Theta Upsilon Omega on Thursday night, and Sigma Alpha Epsilon trimmed Acacia on Friday night.

The S. P. E. Theta Delta game was a rather loosely played one, in which S. P. E. triumphed 17 to 8. A large crowd witnessed the game, and spirited rooters proclaimed their respective teams. At the end of the first half, S. P. E. was leading 8 to 3, and K. A. and Phi Sigma Kappa took the floor for the first half of their tilt, upon the completion of which the Sig Eps came back to increase their score to 17 to 8.

The S. P. E. team was made up by Peck and Salinger, forwards, Chambers, center, Ketcham and Eager, guards, with Healy, Coffin, and Boyd as subs, while Theta Delta Chi was represented by Iverson and Coombes, forwards, Weare, center, Brumbaugh and Hoelt, guards, and Finley, Barnes, and Anghail as substitutions.

Kappa Alpha Wins

Kappa Alpha and Phi Sigma Kappa took the floor to battle to a 12 to 4 score during the first half, but, dissatisfied with the manner of things, the Phi Sigs came back the second half with murder in their hearts and played rings around K. A. for a tie of 23-23, but could not keep up the swift pace, and let the K. A.'s take the game by making one field goal to their one free throw during the extra period, thus ending the tilt with a 25-24 score.

The K. A. team was made up of Phillips and Alexander, forwards, Haddox, center, Futterer and Terry, guards, and Highsmith and Fuller, subs; while the Phi Sig aggregation consisted of Geary and Fank, for-

Sleuth Reporter Finds Colonial Gridmen Are Champions of East, IF

If the George Washington football team, dubbed "Iron men by necessity," triumph over the Nittany Lions at State College next Saturday, not only will it be regarded as the greatest upset in the East, but it will place the University in the ranks of the foremost grid teams of the Atlantic Coast.

A reporter dopes it out this way:

If George Washington beats Penn State, then, (1) Penn State has defeated Syracuse, 9 to 6, and (2) Syracuse downed Georgetown by a comfortable margin, and (3) Georgetown mopped up West Virginia, 25 to 9, and (4) West Virginia tied Washington and Lee (possible champions of the Southern Conference), and (5) Washington and Lee turned back Maryland last Saturday, 13 to 6, and (6) Maryland conquered V. P. I. at Richmond two Saturdays ago, and (7) V. P. I. was victorious over Colgate the week before that, and (8) Colgate tied New York University, the highest scoring team in the East.

Consequently, should Penn State be defeated or tied, then the Colonials are better than Syracuse, Georgetown, West Virginia, Washington and Lee (and other teams in the Southern Conference) which it has turned back, Maryland, V. P. I., Colgate, and New York U., not to mention many other prominent colleges and universities. Glory awaits next Saturday, if—

Sophs Down Frosh In Interclass Hockey

Junior-Senior Combine also Triumphs Over Yearlings in Second Game

Interclass Hockey opened Wednesday, October 26, with the Freshmen being defeated by the Sophomores. The Junior-Senior-Freshmen match, next in the series, was played Friday.

The Freshmen were downed by the Sophomores with a score of 4-1. The game showed lack of team work on both sides, but the failure of the Freshmen to make the most of their scoring opportunities cost them the victory. The Sophomores played an aggressive game, keeping their opponents, constantly on the defensive.

The Junior-Senior-Freshmen match, won by the upper class team 4-2, was marked by much better teamwork than the opening match. The teams kept their positions well and exhibited good pass work throughout the game.

TEAM FORMED BY FRESHMAN SHOTS

Freshman Rifle Squad is Result Of Installation of One-Year Rule

IS UNDER VARSITY TEAM

Telegraphic Match With Virginia Polytech Week of December 3, Will Determine Varsity Team

A freshman rifle team has been formed for the first time, due to the institution of the one-year rule at George Washington this year, which means that freshmen are ineligible for varsity teams.

With 50 candidates competing in practice, there is good reason to expect that the freshman team will be successful in the first year of its existence. Although no matches have been scheduled to date, a fine program for the year is being considered.

The freshman team is under the direction of the varsity team manager, as freshman officers have not been selected as yet. Any freshmen who have had previous rifle experience or who would like to start shooting, are urged to report to the range in the basement of Corcoran Hall.

Telegraphic Match

Virginia Polytechnic Institute has accepted the challenge recently sent to them and a telegraphic match has been scheduled with them for the week ending December 3. This will be the first try-out for the champion varsity team, which is virtually the same as last year's team. The team has been practicing regularly for some time and should be in good condition for the match.

DATES SET FOR GIRLS' BASKETBALL PRACTICE

Girls' Varsity Basketball practice, which will begin in December, is to be held on the afternoons of Tuesday, Thursday, and Friday. Practice games will be played on Tuesday and Thursday evenings for night students only.

Tentative dates have been set for games with American University, West Hampton, Swarthmore and William and Mary. Interclass games will be run off the week of January 8.

COACH "MAUD" CRUM TO COACH BASKETBALL

Five Letter Men Left From Last Year; Good Freshmen Available

Coach "Maud" Crum who will coach the basketball team this year expects to put a strong team on the floor with Allshouse, Perry, Goodman, Carey, and Sapp of last year's varsity team to form the nucleus of the squad.

In addition to the above mentioned letter men there will be a large number of last year's freshman squad available, including Gray, Hoelt, Young, and Schaffert, who proved their worth by their work last year.

Manager "Bucky" Herzog has already scheduled a number of games with the best teams in this section of the country. The pending dates on the schedule will be filled within the next two weeks.

Unless something unforeseen happens preliminary practice will start on November 15.

EXPLORATION ON PRACTICAL BASIS AIM OF ALUMNUS

Commander Fitzhugh Green, M. S., Organizes Business to Assist Expeditions

EXPLORER'S GENIUS NEEDS PRACTICAL AID

Commander Byrd, Roy Chapman Andrews and Other Famous Travelers Now Under His Guidance

At this time, when voyages to the far places of the earth are the order of the day, comes the announcement that Commander Fitzhugh Green, late of the United States Navy, and a Master of Science from George Washington University, is engaged in a new type of business, that of exploration.

Treasure hunts, polar dashes, big game expeditions, cannibal hunts and the solution of deep-sea mysteries are several of the activities for which this new organization offers its services, ashore, aloft or aloft, for the guidance of any expedition or enterprise.

"The modern explorer," says Commander Green, "faces the most difficult problem in the world. He has to be a military leader, business executive, writer, technician and publicist. At the same time he is often temperamentally a genius. And genius is usually impractical. Only mediocrity is altogether practical. No mediocre man ever becomes a successful explorer."

Expeditions Costly

"The modern expedition, whether it be to Persia or to Patagonia, rarely gets away without an expenditure of from $50,000 to $500,000. While we hope to make exploration less expensive than it has ever been, the problems alone of equipment, radio, press and magazine stories, syndicated features or articles and personnel and legal items, are enough to crush the average business executive."

"When to these details are added the basic one of facing death in the wilderness, and the collection and preservation of scientific specimens under the most perilous circumstances, it is little wonder that only a man with strong nerves and wide experience would dare attempt any sort of exploration."

"Yet strange to say, there are still vast areas on the surface of the earth which remain to be explored. In the Arctic alone 3,000,000 square miles have never been seen by human eye. It is estimated that in the next twenty months nearly fifty expeditions of various sorts will carry the American flag to all parts of the world."

Handles Famous Explorers

In his dealings with explorers Commander Green is handling Commander Byrd, the Navy's hero of the air, and Captain Robert A. Bartlett, famous Arctic explorer. He also is connected with William Beebe, the well known ornithologist; Roy Chapman Andrews, who has explored in the Dutch East Indies, Tibet, China, Borneo and Mongolia; George Palmer Putnam, explorer of the Southwest, and other famous explorers to a total of some twenty of the leading travelers and writers in the public eye today.

Commander Green himself is an explorer of note, having spent nearly four years in the polar regions in search of Crocker Land. The year after receiving his Master of Science degree from George Washington, he left on McMillan's expedition into the unknown area of the Polar Sea. He is the author of sixteen books dealing with the Navy, exploration and biography.

PROMINENT MEN COMPOSE BRITISH DEBATING TEAM

John Bull team, and has been for four years one of the most influential and widely known men at this justly famous institution. Despite the fact that he is only 22, he is a noted orator both in national and university political circles. Mr. Rambe has been secretary of the local organization of the British Labor party, and is on the executive of the London branch of the Independent Labor party.

Is Magazine Contributor

He gained literary and political recognition by the publication of an article on economic conditions in Southeast Europe, in the Socialist Review for October, 1926. This magazine is the leading socialist monthly, and has as one of its regular contributors Mr. J. Ramsay MacDonald.

Tickets to the approaching event will be given free to all the students of the University, by presenting their Student Activities Cards, at the Registrar's Office for an admission ticket. Students wishing additional tickets may obtain them at the same office for 50 cents each. All outsiders must pay 75 cents. The opening date of the ticket sale will be announced later.

G. W. CAMPUS VISITED BY NOTED TRACK STAR

Verne Booth, Famous Runner, Sees George Washington While Touring Eastern Colleges

Verne Booth, former Intercollegiate Cross-country Champion, Olympic star, and conqueror of Jole Ray, Paavo Nurmi, and Willie Ritola, was seen several times on the campus last week.

Verne is well known in local athletic circles because of his recent appearances in Convention Hall against such stars as Nurmi, Haun, and Connelly. He has been representing the Melrose A. C. of New York for the past few years and will be remembered by local cinder fans as that tall, flaxen-haired boy that lost a gruelling race in the Washington Post's Annual Modified Marathon of ten miles to "Whitey" Michaelson in 1925, after having led the field from the start.

When interviewed by a Hatchet reporter with regard to that race Verne said:

"It was an intensely bitter and cold day in Washington for running. I had never competed in such a similar race before, that is, for such a distance on paved streets. At the gun we darted out and I succeeded in getting at the head of the field. Going out East Capitol Street we circled around to Florida Avenue, and headed for the Ellipse. I lost track of time and distance and once on looking behind, I saw Michaelson closely following me. My mind was good but as time passed I became aware of a soreness and stiffness in the muscles of my legs, evidently caused by the severe cold. As we were nearing the Ellipse everyone was cheering me on to victory, and evidently "Whitey" Michaelson was aware of the fact, for he drew up abreast of me and said, 'Verne, it appears that the crowd is with you. If it means a great deal to you to win this race, go ahead, I'll follow you in.' Believe me, that was mighty sportsmanlike of 'Whitey' to say, but I told him to go ahead and win the race if he could, and he did."

While in Washington Verne worked out several times at the Georgetown track as he believes that a track man should never be entirely out of condition. He stated his intention of trying out for the Olympic team again next year. Verne is at present representing a prominent publishing house in New York and will visit practically every college east of the Mississippi before the closing school year.

ed the stands and sidelines of the new field.

First Quarter

Hartzog kicked off for George Washington and Ursinus received the ball on their 15-yard line. After running the ball for a first down George Washington took the ball on downs and returned it to the Bears' 30-yard line on two successive first downs only to lose it by fumbling on the Ursinus 30-yard line. After a few line plays which netted little ground Moyer shot a pass to Jeffers who ran to the Buff and Blue 5-yard line where Walker nailed him with one hand. After the next line play the Bears had less than two yards to go, but at this point the Colonial line displayed that power which has kept their foes from scoring on them by holding the Ursinus eleven for downs.

With the ball on our 20-yard line, because of an incomplete forward pass by Ursinus in their attempt to score, the Colonials advanced the ball 15 yards through the line after which Stehman kicked to Ursinus on their 25-yard line. The Bears then gained two first downs on completed passes when the quarter ended.

Second Quarter

The second quarter opened with the ball in Ursinus' possession on G. W.'s 45-yard line. After several fruitless attempts at advancing the ball the Bears yielded the ball to the Colonials who at once made a first down through the line after which Stehman kicked to Ursinus on their 20-yard line. After working several line bucks and a pass for a 12-yard gain Moyer punted to the George Washington 30-yard line where the ball was at once lost on a fumble.

Ursinus gained 10 yards on a pass and three line bucks. Now being in a position to score by means of a placement kick, quarterback Moyer called Shell out of the line to do the kicking, his attempt went wide. This gave the Crum team the ball on their 20-yard line. The Colonials advanced the ball 50 yards on a steady march through the Bears' line. The half ended with the ball in the Buff and Blue's grasp on their opponents' 30-yard line.

Third Quarter

Coach Crum's spirited talk to the team bore fruit, because at the opening of the second half Clapper, aided by wonderful interference, made a 95-yard run for a touchdown after taking the kick-off on his 5-yard line. Hartzog then kicked off to Moyer who returned the ball to the 50-yard line. By a series of bucks and passes the Bears carried the ball to the George Washington 10-yard line only to lose it on downs. The Buff and Blue backs advanced the oval 30 yards on a successful pass and several line bucks. At this point the Colonials again lost the ball on a fumble. The ball remained in the middle of the field until the quarter ended.

Fourth Quarter

Ursinus opened the last quarter by losing the ball on downs near the Buff and Blue 35-yard line. George Washington then marched down the field to the Ursinus 16-yard line where they lost the ball to their opponents when they failed to make the required yardage. Moyer kicked to Clapper who fumbled and was nailed on the 50-yard line. On the first play Stehman reeled off a 10-yard gain through the line. Ursinus took the ball after the Colonials failed to make the distance after four attempts.

Lopeman took an Ursinus pass and placed the ball on the 40-yard line from where it was advanced to the 20-yard line through a number of line plays. The Bears again regained the ball and returned it to the Buff and Blue 30-yard line where they were in turn held to four downs. Sapp at once started a passing game, completing two passes for a 15-yard gain. A long pass, Sapp to Carey, brought the ball to the Ursinus 10-yard line.

The Bears again took the ball when the Colonials failed to make the required 10 yards on four downs. Moyer punted to the Buff and Blue 20-yard line. The game ended with the ball in George Washington's possession in midfield.

In the system of voting next Thursday a student desiring to vote will enter the Gymnasium and go to a desk where his name will be checked on the class roll to which he claims membership. If his name appears on the class roll he is given a ballot and is directed to a table in the middle of the room where he will mark his ballot in secret. After marking and folding his ballot properly the voter carries it to a ballot box attendant who, in full sight of those present, drops the ballot into the box. The vote is now cast and the voter, having fulfilled his duty, leaves the Gymnasium.

Dr. West will act on the suggestions of other instructors in Political Science courses in forming a committee of Political Science students to take charge of the polls. The names of those comprising the committee will be held a secret until the time of election.

DER SCHOENFELD VEREIN PLANS YEAR'S PROGRAM

Der Schoenfeld Verein held its first meeting on Wednesday, October 19th, in Corcoran Hall when Dr. Sehrt spoke on the aim and object of the club, and Prof. Gropp gave a lecture on "Nurnburg." It was decided to join the National Association of German Clubs, and plans were discussed for plays and lectures to be given throughout the year. The George Washington Quartet played movements from Beethoven and Haydn quartets. The club will hold regular monthly meetings; the date of the next one to be announced later.

wards; Smoot, center; McDonald and Hemming, guards, and Grey, substitute.

Sigma Nu Beats T. U. O.

The Sigma Nu-Theta Upsilon Omega game on Thursday night was a closely played and hard fought tilt in which the superior team work of Sigma Nu triumphed, netting them a 23 to 19 victory. While weak in shooting baskets, the Sigma Nu's proved their superiority in their systematic passing. The teams were as follows: Sigma Nu, Hili and Rangeley, forwards; McCormick, center; and Landing and Snyder, guards. T. U. O.: Herzog and Young, forwards; McGrew, center; Pomeroy and Goelzer, guards; and Wineland, center.

S. A. E. Trims Acacia

Acacia fell before the S. A. E. cagemen Friday evening when the Sig Alphas ran up a score of 26 to 10 against them, showing good team work and fair basket shooting ability.

The players supporting the S. A. E. cause were: Knapp and Procter, forwards; Whyte, center; Lindsey and Durand, guards and Crofts, substitute, while Acacia was represented by Spangler and Elsberry, forwards; Motyka, center; LaFont and Roth-sack, guards; and Blackman, substitutes.

Teams Form Two Leagues

The teams representing the twelve fraternities in the interfraternity council were divided into two leagues by an impartial drawing, with the following results:

League one: Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Acacia, Theta Delta Chi, Sigma Phi Epsilon, Kappa Sigma.

League two: Sigma Nu, Theta Upsilon Omega, Kappa Alpha, Phi Sigma Kappa, Sigma Chi, Delta Tau Delta.

Last year the leagues consisted of League one—Acacia, Sigma Nu, Kappa

Alpha, Kappa Sigma, Sigma Phi Epsilon, and Sigma Chi. League two—Phi Sigma Kappa, Delta Tau Delta, Theta Upsilon Omega, Theta Delta Chi, and Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

Kappa Sigs Won Last Year

Kappa Sigma topped S. P. E. for the championship of League one, while S. A. E. took the laurels of League two, but lost to Kappa Sigma in the final game by a score of 17 to 16.

Standing of the Leagues

LEAGUE ONE		Won.	Lost.
Sigma Alpha Epsilon	1	0
Sigma Phi Epsilon	1	0
Acacia	0	1
Theta Delta Chi	0	1

LEAGUE TWO		Won.	Lost.
Sigma Nu	1	0
Kappa Alpha	1	0
Theta Upsilon Omega	0	1
Phi Sigma Kappa	0	1

This Week's Games

Games for this week, to be played in the Gym at 8 p. m., will be as follows: Kappa Sigma vs. Theta Delta Chi, last Monday night, Sigma Chi vs. Delta Tau Delta and Theta Upsilon Omega vs. Phi Sigma Kappa on Wednesday night, S. A. E. vs. S. P. E. and K. A. vs. Delta Tau Delta on Thursday night, Sigma Nu vs. Sigma Chi on Saturday night.

A study of last year's games and the dope on this year's would seem to place the favor on Sigma Chi and Kappa Sigma, but if the opening games can be taken as a criterion, Sigma Nu and S. A. E. are not taking any second places without a scrap. The games will end Thanksgiving.

The one cigarette in a million

THE instant a Camel is lighted, you sense that here is the distinctly better cigarette. And how this superior quality grows with the smoking! Choice tobaccos tell their fragrant story. Patient, careful blending rewards the smoker with added pleasure.

Camel is the one cigarette in a million for mildness and mellowness. Its decided goodness wins world popularity for Camel. Modern smokers demand superiority. They find it fulfilled in Camels, and place them overwhelmingly first.

You should know the tastes and fragrances that choice tobaccos really give. Camels will reveal an entirely new pleasure. And the more of them you light, the more enjoyable.

SWARTHMORE VS. G. W. HONORED BY 1926-27 ANNUAL

University Debaters' Annual Features Last Year's Contest With Quakers

"EXTRATERRITORIALITY" SUBJECT OF '27 DEBATE

Colonials First Listed in 1925 Annual, When G. W. met Princeton and North Carolina

The University Debaters' Annual, a book containing debates of American colleges and universities during the College Year 1926-1927, again honored the G. W. debate team with a chapter on the George Washington vs. Swarthmore college debate, which was held on the evening of February 18, 1927, in Corcoran Hall.

The first time that the University attained a place in the Annual was in 1925, when double teams from George Washington met Princeton, and the University of North Carolina, on the question of the Child Labor Amendment. The manager of Mens' Debate at that time was John T. Trimble, and one of the members of the squad was W. Raymond Ogg, former Varsity spokesman.

"Extraterritoriality in China" was the subject of the debate in the 1927 Annual between George Washington and Swarthmore, the question being, "Resolved: That the foreign countries should abandon their extraterritorial policies in China." Professor Gilbert L. Hall of the Law School, chairman of the Debate Council, was the presiding officer.

Split System Used

The program followed the split-team system, with one representative for each college on a side. Each debater met his colleague for the first time at the debate, the speakers for the affirmative being Edward Gallagher of George Washington and Horace M. Smith of Swarthmore; on the negative, Alexander McDougall of Swarthmore and W. Raymond Ogg of George Washington.

Swarthmore representatives talked extemporaneously, while their colleagues used prepared speeches, extemporizing when necessary to fit the needs of the situation. No decision was rendered, but following the debate, there was a short discussion in which members of the audience participated.

Gallagher Gives Report.

This report of the debate submitted to the Annual, and also the briefs and part of the bibliography, were furnished by Edward Gallagher of the Varsity team, and John T. Trimble, former manager of Mens' Debate.

A preface to the University Debaters' Annual, edited by E. M. Phelps, and published by the H. W. Wilson

Company of New York, states that the debates contained in this year's Annual were selected not only because they were representative of intercollegiate debating for the season of 1926-1927, but also because they represented good material for study as specimens of the debating art.

Phelps believes that interest in them will continue, and that they will therefore provide helpful material for future debates. George Washington University has the distinction of being one of the eight schools, from the American colleges and universities debating last season, which was given a place in the 1927 University Debaters' Annual.

DEBATERS WILL HONOR BRITISH

Columbian Debating Society to Give Dance for Visiting Debate Team

MANY NEW MEMBERS JOIN

Unprecedented Interest Shown in Club This Year; Co-eds to be Admitted Again

The Columbian Debating Society is to give a dance in honor of the British Debating team, which will meet the George Washington Varsity squad on November 18, in the Gymnasium. It was decided at the meeting held in Corcoran Hall, October 28.

The entire treasury of the society, which has been accumulated over a period of several semesters, was voted for the purpose of financing the function. Committees have been appointed and are actively engaged with the details of music, location, and other incidentals necessary to the success of such an affair.

During the discussion resulting in the decision to entertain the visiting debaters, it was developed that in taking such a step, the society was merely taking official cognizance of the fact that for the hundred odd eventful years of its career, it has served as a proving ground and a training school for a great majority of the men and women who have represented the University in intercollegiate debate.

Increased Membership

Charles Laughlin disclosed in the Secretary's report that the membership of the society has shown an unprecedented increase since the opening of the current year's activities. Thirty-two new members have been added to the rolls. The attendance has consistently been larger than at any time since the society left its old home in the old Law School building on K Street, in 1924. The organization is again coeducational. A number of women students have recently been voted to active membership.

For the purpose of determining the members eligible for the forensic and social activities of the current year, the society has voted to consider as members only those active during the present season. At the same time it was announced that membership was open to all students of the University interested in forensic activities. The following four men were elected to membership in the Society at the last meeting: Messrs. Quenell, Hatch, Rumbaugh and Garret.

Discussion at Last Meeting

The subject for discussion last Friday night was, Resolved: "That this house believes the use of automobiles in local transportation an unjustifiable waste." The affirmative was supported by Mr. Louis Denbitt, and the negative by Mr. L. R. Murphy. Following the debate the floor was thrown open to the house for three minute speeches from the floor.

The debate scheduled for the next meeting of the society, November 3, at 8.15, in Corcoran Hall, will be on the subject, Resolved: "That this house believes the power of the Federal Government should be increased at the expense of the State governments." The affirmative will be presented by Mr. Charles Laughlin of Iowa, and Mr. Louis Denbitt of New York, while Mr. J. C. Stukes and Mr. J. L. Lyons of Georgia, will oppose the motion.

The Columbian Debating Society announces that visitors are welcome to any of its weekly meetings, and that any student of the University can become a member by participating in the club's activities.

Scholarship Awarded To Ethel Lamb Carney

Elizabeth V. Brown Award is Given Only to Primary School Teachers

Ethel Lamb Carney has been awarded the Elizabeth V. Brown scholarship which consists of the interest on $1,200, and which was founded in memory of the late supervisor of Primary Instruction in the District of Columbia.

This scholarship can be given only to a primary teacher of the District. The recommendation must come from Dean Ruediger of the School of Education, and the scholarship is administered by a special committee of Columbian Women, of which Mrs. Carl Ruediger and Miss Ella Given are members.

Miss Carney, who was awarded this scholarship last year, also was chosen for her outstanding work as a student and teacher. She is a model teacher at the Franklin School and is in her senior year at the University.

NEW HOCKEY TUNICS

With the appearance of the new official uniforms for the girls' varsity hockey team, we now have the distinction of being the first collegiate team in the city to follow the lead of the other prominent colleges in the country. These outfits consist of dark blue tunics, and the shiny new sticks contribute much to the effect.

Engineers Examine Intricacies Of Navy Yard With Seaquist Acting As Guide

Group Sees Government's Means of Testing Ships, Aeroplanes, And Dirigibles, Watches Casting of Iron and Steel, And Visits Forge, Machine and Erecting Shops

By WILLIAM J. ELLENBERGER

A group of engineering students under the leadership of Professors Platt and Cruikshank, started on their tour of the Navy Yard shortly after 9 o'clock last Thursday morning. The group was fortunate in having for its guide Mr. E. O. Seaquist, a graduate of the School of Engineering, who worked for six years at the Navy Yard.

The first place visited was the Experimental Model Basin where ship models are towed through the water and their behavior under certain conditions noted. From the data obtained it is possible to predict the behavior of the actual ships under similar circumstances. The basin is four hundred and 70 feet long, 43 feet wide, and 15 feet deep.

The group next visited the wind tunnels and saw the very delicate balance used in determining the forces on a model aeroplane or dirigible when suspended in the tunnel in such a way as to approximate certain flying conditions. Having finished their inspection of the experimental work the engineers moved on to see the manufacturing work done by the Navy Yard.

In the steel foundry all the casting in iron and steel is done. Perhaps the most interesting single piece of equipment is the six-ton electric furnace used in making the highest quality electric steel. The furnace operates on about a hundred volts, drawing from fourteen hundred to eighteen hundred amperes, and consumes about two hundred kilowatts. A special generator supplies the electricity for this furnace. Other equipment includes a twenty-ton open-hearth furnace, converter, and iron cupolas.

In the forge shop are a battery of drop forging hammers, steam hammers, and a huge 2,000 ton hydraulic forging press. The brass foundry where all casting in non-ferrous metals and alloys is done, is similar in many ways to the steel foundry. Both the pattern shop and drafting offices are among the best in the country. The engineers took great interest in the boiler and engine rooms of the power house and spent some time in examining the steam-driven turbine generators.

Gun-Shop Number Two is one of the largest and best equipped machine shops in the world. The equipment in this building includes three traveling cranes of 380 tons capacity (300 tons on the main hook and 80 tons on the auxiliary) and the largest metal working lathe in the world. The lathe is over 200 feet long and has the longest lead screw ever made. While the lead screw is not one piece, it is so neatly made that no joints are visible. In this building are facilities for machining, rifling and assembling guns. There are also several electrically heated shrinking pits used in placing one shell on top of another in building up the barrel of the gun.

The last place visited was the erecting shop where the complete gun turrets are assembled prior to building them on the ships themselves. Each turret requires besides its armament a great quantity of auxiliary equipment which must be tested before installation.

A similar trip about the yard was made by Professor Johnson and a number of the freshmen engineers in the afternoon.

Newman Club Hears Talk by Fred Murphy

Former G. W. Student and Professor Discusses Progressive Quality of Architecture

Mr. Fred Murphy spoke last Tuesday at the Newman Club on the subject of Architecture. He says, "Architecture is progressive, nothing is lost." It takes the accumulated effort of years to produce impressive architecture. Expensive material is not necessary if the character is there.

Mr. Murphy graduated from George Washington in 1892 and succeeded Professor Ash during the years of 1909-10. He is now teaching at Catholic University.

During the Fritz Leiber engagement at the Auditorium in December, the members of the Newman Club will have a theater party in charge of Nash Knapp and Jack Kearful.

The next meeting will be held in Room 28, Corcoran Hall on November 8. Dr. John K. Cartwright will talk on the history of the Church.

CHERRY TREE BOARD MAKES YEAR'S PLANS

The Jahn and Oller Company of Chicago has been awarded the engraving contract for this year's Cherry Tree. General plans for the annual are being made by the Board of Editors.

The three chief aims of the Cherry Tree board this year are to put the book on a better paying basis, to have the Cherry Tree on the campus before the final exams, and to have such an annual as has never been brought out before.

FENCING PRACTICE BEGINS

Fencing practice will begin Thursday, November 3, at 7 p. m., in the University Gymnasium. The French method of fencing will be taught. All women are urged to come out.

PRES. MARVIN TO SPEAK AT FIRST CHAPEL NOV. 4

The first chapel of the school year will be held Friday, November 4th, in Corcoran Hall, Room 1. President Marvin will be the speaker. The chapel will begin at 12:10 and will be of twenty minutes duration. Hereafter chapels will be held twice weekly, on Tuesdays and Fridays at 12:10 in Corcoran Hall.

Prexy of Chicago U. Invents Ore Finder

President Mason Experiments Successfully in Locating Ore By Radio

To add to the puzzling perplexities of twentieth century science, President Max Mason of the University of Chicago, announced before a group of engineers his successful experiments in locating buried ore by radio.

President Mason is a radio amateur, having been licensed by the United States Government. Some time ago he determined to experiment in finding ore by radio. He set up his transmitter when brush had been cleared away from the ground where the tests were made, according to his statement before the New York section of the American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers. Then he started the transmitter. The ore below the earth reflected his signals, which he picked up on his receiver. By the altered characteristics of the transmitted wave, he determined the character and size of the ore.

HISTORY CLUB TO HOLD PICNIC NOVEMBER 13

The History Club announces the first picnic of the season to be held at three o'clock of the afternoon of Sunday, November 13 at Camp Normal. Those expecting to attend are requested to call Miss Green at 5434 Thirteenth Street, from whom details may be obtained.

HATCHET ERROR NOTED

Through a misunderstanding, The Hatchet last week announced the receipt of a gift of $10,000 from the Rockefeller Endowment. As a matter of fact, this donation was made by a Washingtonian who is interested in the development of George Washington University. This edition of The Hatchet carries a full account of this gift.

AD MEN WANTED

There are a few vacancies on the Hatchet Staff for Advertising Assistants. All who are interested in advertising and who would like to be on the Hatchet Staff please meet Frank Kreglow in the Hatchet Office at twelve o'clock, on Friday, November 4. This type of work on the staff leads to later advancement.

G. W. DOCTORS RESTORE LIVES

Dr. H. A. McNitt, G. W. Graduate, Brings Back Respiration Of Baby by Use of Ether

CHILD DEAD FOR SIX HOURS

Dr. Gordon, Senior in Medical School Breathes Air Into Child's Lungs for Hours

Two young Washington doctors recently restored life, at least temporarily, to two new born babies. Dr. H. A. McNitt, resident physician at the George Washington University Hospital and graduate of George Washington Medical School, brought back to life, by the use of ether, a baby which had apparently been dead for six hours. The other, Dr. Leon S. Gordon, senior in the George Washington University Medical School, with the help of Dr. H. G. Hadley, for four hours, breathed life into the lungs of a baby. In the first case, the five-day-old infant of Mrs. Marian Davis, suddenly stopped breathing in George Washington University Hospital. Dr. H. A. McNitt, was immediately called, and made an injection of adrenalin, a drug which reacts upon the heart. This started a fair pulse, but no way could be found to start respiration.

Ether Stimulates Respiration

For five hours he worked over the baby, but every effort was futile. In thinking back over former cases, he remembered that, while ether produces somnolence, it also stimulates action of the lungs. Unless some desperate steps were taken immediately, the effect of the adrenalin would be over, so, with the help of two nurses, the ether was administered. As the amount was increased, the child suddenly began to kick and squirm. By this time, the adrenalin had almost worn off, and the heart action was becoming dangerously low. Another bold step was taken, the injection of a strong dose of strychnine. Several hours passed, with the doctors patiently waiting, and, finally, ten hours after the fight began, the baby was declared alive again.

In the other case Dr. Leon S. Gordon, a George Washington graduate, gave life to a new-born baby, with the aid of Dr. H. G. Hadley. Every known means of starting the functioning of the lungs had been tried. It was decided that ether would do no good, because the child's lungs, never having breathed air, would not respond to the lack of it. The only hope was to induce respiration by artificial means, so that the lung action would eventually become spontaneous. For four hours, the physicians literally breathed life into the little body in five minute shifts. Then the infant suddenly seemed to derive new energy, and started breathing vigorously of its own accord.

MATHILDE EIKER GAINS PRAISE OF LITERARY CRITICS

Is Classed Among Few Novelists
Whose Work Commands
Serious Attention

SECOND BOOK, "OVER THE BOAT-SIDE" IS JUST OUT

Learned Spiritual Appreciation From
Dean Wilbur; Critical Appreciation
From Dean Henning, She Says

"Stick this in your hatband: here's a godsend of a novel, 'Over the Boat-Side,' by Mathilde Eiker; a bright, flippant sophisticated yarn about the principal theme of the American novelist—matrimony. If it doesn't find its way into the list of the six best sellers within the next few years it will be because the American reader is absolutely convinced that all marriages are made in heaven."

"Reading this, Mathilde Eiker's second novel, one is seized with an inward conviction of gross negligence for being unacquainted with its predecessor. Repairing the omission, one is amazed that it was possible to overlook such a brilliant, almost incendiary performance as her first novel. Taken together, the two volumes, 'Over the Boat-Side' and 'Mrs. Mason's Daughters' establish Miss Eiker securely among the small group of American novelists whose work commands serious attention and provokes serious discussion."

"Her intelligence, her integrity, even her ruthlessness, are rare and valuable qualities. And her gift of creating character to embody those qualities is, if anything, even more rare. Of all the women novelists who have lately begun to 'speak out in meeting,' none has spoken more to the point than Miss Eiker."

Recalls College Days

The above paragraphs, quoted from the reviews of Harry Hansen and Isabel Paterson, well known New York literary critics, represent the consensus of critical opinion on the work of a George Washington alumna who is carving out for herself a niche in the Hall of Fame.

Interviewed in her Washington apartment, Miss Eiker—slim, dark, vivacious—spoke, with some urging, of her recent literary success and, more willingly, recalled her days in the University.

Since childhood, literature has been Miss Eiker's ambition. In her first year of college she won a dictionary for good work in English, showing, she says, "that even at that early age, murder would out." Upon graduation she received the E. K. Cutter prize in English for an original play. She was a scholarship student.

Is Finished Artist

For some years after her graduation Miss Eiker made no attempt to write, feeling that she was still too immature, and keenly desiring to avoid what she recalls Dean Henning characterized as "wallowing in bathos."

Thus it was that in her first work, "Mrs. Mason's Daughters," she was able to speak as an adult to adults, and achieved what one critic has called that "chill detachment" which distinguishes the finished artist from the youthful sentimentalist.

Her instructors in the University Miss Eiker recalls with grateful appreciation. "From my association with Dean Wilbur," she says, "I may say that I gained the faculty of spiritual appreciation; from Dean Henning, I learned critical appreciation."

NOTED NOVELIST

MATHILDE EIKER, who has followed her first novel, "Mrs. Mason's Daughters," with "Over the Boat-Side."

Pharmacy Students Have New Supplies

Four Hundred Dollars Worth of Crude Drugs Received From
Eli Lilly and Co.

The School of Pharmacy received last week from Eli Lilly & Co., a collection of crude drugs, the cost and assembly of which were $400.00. The collection is comprised of the following: 124 Crude Drugs in 8-oz. screw cap jars, 25 Tinctures in 4-oz. glass stoppered bottles, 36 Fluid Extracts in 4-oz. glass stoppered bottles, Lilly Special Products, 16 Display jars containing miscellaneous products, capsules in 2 colors, G. E. Salts, Pills in different colors, coatings, and sizes. Lozengers in different shapes, colors and sizes; the last three classes arranged in designs for display.

A wall case is being constructed in Building 9, Room 21, in which to keep the display. The collection will be an invaluable aid to students of Pharmacy, and Materia Medica, and the University is to be congratulated upon receiving this valuable assortment of drugs. The Pharmacy School wishes to take this opportunity to thank Eli Lilly & Co., the donors.

NEW COURSE IN DANCING OFFERED FOR WOMEN

Mrs. Virginia Hopkins Russell, Physical Education Head to Teach
Natural Dancing

Natural dancing, a new course introduced this year, is under the supervision of Mrs. Virginia Hopkins Russell, physical education instructor. Her own knowledge and training in this line of dancing was received at the Columbia Teachers' College of New York City, where she studied this past summer.

Leaping, running, skipping, and any other large movement which is natural to the body's exercise is specialized in rather than the restricted motions of aesthetic dancing such as hand and feet positions. These large body movements tend to encourage more graceful posture than could be obtained by the limited exercises of aesthetic dancing.

The subject is open to any upper class women who are seeking an interesting as well as beneficial elective. The class contains only twelve regular members, so girls wishing to join the group still have the opportunity of doing so.

Ballet slippers and a natural dancing costume are required of every member of the class.

Move For University Band Under Way As Students Are Sounded On Talent

Engineering School and Pep Club Actively Interrogating Prospective To Form Units With Immediate Object of Providing Music For Rest of Football Season—Need Leader

In their way, half a hundred George Washington University students are organizing a band, but their way hasn't materialized to the extent of any horns, cornets, trombones, and things like that, excepting one drum. One drum is ready to do duty when the owner finds a list on which to put his name; he wants to enlist. The talent is plentiful. It's a question of how to organize. Leadership is needed. Kenneth Mulford, Elbert Judson, and Melvin Friedman of the School of Engineering play sundry instruments, and from the headway in their school it looks like a matter of but days until a meeting is called and arrangements are made to form and begin practice.

The Pep Club is quietly testing the sentiment of its large membership with the same object—that of organizing a band. To have it ready for playing at the St. Vincent's game is much desired, and the Pep Club announcement of a band meeting is expected very soon. If two bands are formed, they will be consolidated, in all probability, and the worst players will be allowed to wait until a third band may be formed. In case no third band is formed so as to make it a generously-sized Sousa kind of a band, these reservists may simply have to blow their fists, or combs.

Leader Needed

"It's all up to you, boys," Professor Johnson has given the word, and now for a leader. Who wants to lead a band? A canvass will be made for a list of those among George Washington's four thousand boys, in order to find and single out the musicians. Talent is prerequisite; without that no student should belong to a band that has a serious objective such as this one which aims to supply the accompaniment for the singing features of the two final gridiron games of the George Washington schedule this season.

This band will be perpetuated if successfully organized, overcoming many futile efforts to provide George Washington University with an aggregation of real music makers.

Earle Is Founder

Here's a man who doesn't play anything higher than a triangle—Sherod E. Earle—wants to help bring the band into existence, and is talking it up among his classmates. He figures that it would be a great source of interest and entertainment and probably he would learn to master some real instrument, and be a member himself. It would be through his efforts that the Engineers' band would be formed.

"Although George Washington," says Earle, "has more potential music talent, if the fact that they are larger in membership and better fitted by the nature of their studies means what it ought to, I defy any branch of the University to produce more enthusiasm than the Engineers."

EGYPTIAN DINNER ON NOVEMBER 5

Art Promoters Club to Entertain
At Blackstone Next
Saturday

UNIQUE NIGHT PROMISED

Minister of Egypt and Madame Samy to Attend; Oriental Entertainment to be Featured

Oriental splendor will prelude The Blackstone Saturday evening, November 5. With an Egyptian dinner, Oriental costumes, Egyptian songs and dances, an Arabian Nights' feature, and Cleopatra and Anthony in the program of the Art Promoters Club for their annual banquet and dance, the evening promises to be exceptionally wonderful, enchanting and unique. The Minister of Egypt and Madame Samy have signified their intention to attend the entertainment.

Cleopatra, Anthony and Caesar will be faithfully impersonated. George Washington University students will have the opportunity to see how those famous characters of romantic history acted and dressed.

Aladdin and His Lamp to Attend
Aladdin and his lamp also will be at the annual banquet. His kind genie, it is understood from the managers of the affair, have promised to transform The Blackstone into a little palace of magic and mirth.

Miss Pauline Brunner has been chosen by the club to sing Egyptian songs. Egyptian dances will also be exhibited.

It is expected that many of the guests will wear Oriental costumes, although a costume is not a prerequisite to attendance. Dr. Gertrude Richardson Brigham of the Art Promoters Club will wear a beautiful costume which she brought from her travels in Egypt.

New Officers to be Elected

Kermit Girdner, president of the club, will preside during the dinner. The election of new officers of the club will be held following the dinner, which begins at eight o'clock. Dancing will follow also.

A considerable number of George Washington students are expected to attend the banquet and dance. Reservations for the affair can be made by calling Miss Mittle Burch, secretary-treasurer of the club, at North 1421.

Recognizing the wonderful work that the Art Promoters Club is doing for Oriental Art, Sara Manoukian, a local Armenian dealer in rugs, has recently presented the club with a beautiful piece of Oriental rug to show his appreciation.

TRY-OUTS FOR DEBATE TO BE HELD WEDNESDAY

Try-outs for the Women's Debating Team to meet West Virginia will be held Wednesday, November 9, at 8 o'clock. Those trying for positions are to speak for five minutes on either side of the question. "Resolved: That the United States Should Now Abandon the Monroe Doctrine." All are urged to come out. The debate with West Virginia is to be held early in December.

MEMORAH MEETS

The Menorah Society of George Washington University heard Dr. Rosenbloom give a lecture on the subject, "Religion of the Intellectual" at their meeting on Thursday evening.

DRAMATISTS MEET

The Board of Directors of the Dramatic Association will have an important meeting tonight, Wednesday, November 2, at 8 o'clock, in Professor Bolwell's office.

MERCHANT SHIPS NEEDED

American Coastwise Commerce, Including Great Lakes, Equals Entire Foreign Trade of U. S.

"The Navy is owned by the country and it is a recognition of this relationship between the Navy and the nation which has called forth Navy Day," thus stated Captain Beverly Knox in addressing the student assembly at the "Navy Day" celebration on October 27.

Captain Knox's subject was "Relation of Naval Power to the Nation's Business" and he continued "It is becoming generally understood that the margin of our prosperity is represented by our exports. This is true because of our enormous productive capacity, largely in excess of possible consumption, in a great many different commodities. When this surplus is marketed overseas we are prosperous. When we are unable to dispose of it the price of wheat falls, factories and mines are forced to shut down, railroad traffic drops, unemployment and low wages become the order of the day—in short we have a general business depression."

Size of Trade

Speaking of coastwise commerce the Navy Captain stated, "The most surprising fact about American coastwise commerce, however, is its extraordinary volume. I have been quite astonished to learn recently that this internal, yet ocean-going trade of the United States (including Great Lakes) is substantially equal in cargo tons carried, and in total value, to our entire foreign trade. To appreciate what this means it should be remembered that the United States is one of the two principal competitors for the foreign trade of the world. England leads us by a very small margin and there is no close third."

"The protection of this vast artery of our national life, the protection of a tremendous internal commerce necessarily carried over great stretches of the high seas, is one of the principal reasons for the existence of your Navy."

Prosperity Since War

"Now let us complete the picture of American Commerce on the ocean by a moment's consideration of our foreign trade. We should bear in mind that however great the volume of internal business, foreign trade is also intimately related to the prosperity of the country as a whole. This is strikingly illustrated by the unparalleled good times which have come to us since the World War, coincidentally with an enormous increase of foreign trade."

In closing, Captain Knox stated "Unless we have American Merchant ships in numbers commensurate with our trade we are constantly subject to the risk of upsetting the whole economic fabric of the Nation."

"An American Navy and Merchant Marine equal to those of any other nation are called for to insure us free and safe ocean communications in times of peace, during wars between other nations when we are neutral, and also when we may be unfortunately embroiled in war ourselves."

MISS TEMPLE TO LECTURE ON OLD WALL PAPER

Under the auspices of the Board of Lady Managers of the George Washington University Hospital, Miss Grace Lincoln Temple is giving a lecture in C. H. 1 on Thursday, November 10, at 4.30. Miss Temple has chosen for her subject, "Old Wall Papers and Their Stories." Students are invited to attend, but are requested to present their student activity cards for admission.

"ALUMNI HATCHET" IS NEW PAPER FOR GRADS

Following exactly the style of The University Hatchet, the Alumni Hatchet, published quarterly in the interests of the Alumni Association, is just off the press, and is now being mailed out to more than 7,000 graduates of the University.

The Alumni Hatchet, a five-column, four-page sheet, is published by the General Alumni Association, edited by Marcelle Le Menager. In general style and make-up, the Alumni Hatchet is a smaller reproduction of The University Hatchet.

In addition to carrying regular University news, the November 1 edition contains large pictures of President Marvin, Dr. Frank A. Hornaday, president of the Alumni Association, and Mathilde Eiker, well-known novelist. The paper also carries news concerning the present activities of the George Washington graduates.

Civil Service Exams Held For Engineers

Positions in Many Branches of Engineering Will be Open in Near Future

Civil Service Examinations are to be held in several branches of Engineering in the near future. Some of the positions open are: Chemical Engineer, $3,800; Associate Chemical Engineer, $3,000; Assistant Chemical Engineer, $2,400; Associate Mining Engineer, $3,000; Assistant Mining Engineer, $2,400. Applications must be on file with the Civil Service Commission not later than November 8, 1927. There will also be an examination for the position of Junior Engineer and Deck Officer, with the Coast and Geodetic Survey, for which applications are accepted until December 30, 1927.

Further information relative to these examinations may be obtained from the Dean of the School of Engineering or upon application at the Civil Service Commission.

PHI THETA XI HAS SMOKER

Phi Theta Xi, local professional engineering fraternity, was host to a number of engineers at a rush smoker held at the Theta Upsilon Omega house on last Friday night. A juvenile Ethiopian orchestra, famous from the last pep meeting, furnished a kick for the crowd, while Dean John R. Lapham, and Professor Platt made talks and Professor French told of his experiences in foreign countries in engineering work.

Cider, doughnuts and cigars added to the pleasantness of the evening.

"FOOTBALL NUMBER" OF GHOST OFF PRESS

Alpha Delta Pi Awarded Cup For Securing Largest Number of Subscriptions

The "Football Number" of the Ghost is out today and the usual admonitions regarding the prompt purchase of one's copy are now in order.

The Ghost, one of the best college humorous magazines in the country, is decorated for its second fall appearance with a four-color cover from the brush of the versatile Rowland Lyon.

In the recent contest conducted by the management of the comic, the cup for excellence in subscription sales was awarded to Alpha Delta Pi. This sorority, it was announced, sold more Ghost subscriptions than any other.

The girls who are responsible for Alpha Delta Pi's victory are Margaret Rees, Bernadine Horn, and Barbara Miller.

Chi Omega was a close second, owing its good showing to the efforts of Margaret Hoover, Betty Brandenburg, and Hazel Arrington.

Louise Joan Buddeke and Fannie Osborn are new members of the art staff, and new literary contributors are Wendall Marshall and Herbert E. Angel.

The Ghost, under the editorship of Joe Walstrom, is endeavoring to perfect an ideal makeup for its pages, and for this reason various changes are being made in the appearance of the magazine.

MATH CLUB TO MEET

The next meeting of the Mathematics Club will be held in Corcoran Hall, Room 21, Wednesday November 2 at 8 p. m. Mr. B. Z. McLeray will give a talk on "Pythagorean Numbers," a subject promising great interest to all.

At the meeting last Thursday Professor P. J. Federica spoke on "Mathematical Puzzles and Recreation." Puzzles and tricks were discussed and many members had "pet" puzzles which they brought up.

The subjects discussed at these meetings are of general interest and it is hoped undergraduates as well as seniors and graduate students will attend the meeting next Wednesday.
